MUSIC CONCERT ANNOUNCEMENT

Saturday, February 20, 2010 - 7:30 pm

The Folk Music Society of Huntington's HARD LUCK CAFÉ will present two performers:

The drop-dead gorgeous voice of JULIA JOSEPH

New York based singer and songwriter Julia Joseph brings her own fresh mix of roots music to soul hungry fans everywhere.

Spanning the genres of folk, jazz and blues, the real signature of Julia's sound is her voice— so moving it could almost overshadow the fact that she is a great songwriter. Because Julia writes about the emotional aspect of her experiences, her songs are universally accessible and she sings them in a way that makes each audience member feel as if they are the only person in the room with her. — Julia just shines on stage.

on the same program with:

MILTON

Milton, the modern-day troubadour with the distinctive voice and one-name moniker, is the leader of a lively, rootsy collective known for their soul-stirring live shows. Already known for his radio hit In The City on WFUV, Milton released his second, self-titled CD to wide critical praise. With the help of a busy performance schedule and frequent airplay, they have seen their audiences increase rapidly in recent months.
